TRAIN, ENGINE CRASH INJURES 4 AT KENTON

Passenger Train Goes on Siding, Rams Into Yard Locomotive.

Special to The Star

KENTON, July 16—Two passengers and two members of the crew of a northbound New York Central passenger train were injured at 12:30 a. m. today when the train rammed into the rear end of a freight locomotive standing in a siding in the NYC yards here. The accident occurred about 500 feet southeast of the depot in Kenton's downtown district.

Escaping uninjured were more than 100 passengers of the train. NYC officials said about 20 were shaken up. Some suffered minor injuries which were treated by Kenton physicians.

In a Kenton hospital for treatment John McClincy, 42, of Columbus, fireman of the passenger train, said the accident occurred after the train ran through an open switch into the siding. McClincy suffered a shoulder injury and a minor scalp laceration. He was expected to be released from the hospital today.

Shouts Warning

According to details reported by NYC officials, Fireman McClincy was the first to notice that the passenger train had gone on the siding. He yelled to Engineer Frank Humphreys, also of Columbus, to apply the emergency brakes and then jumped clear of the engine. In jumping his shoulder struck the side of a coal car parked on another siding.

Humphreys remained in the engine and was uninjured, rail officials said.

Archie Simmons, 49, of Chicago, Ill., a colored porter, was the other injured crewman. His head struck a fixture in the dining car when the train crashed into the freight engine.

Passengers in Kenton hospitals for observation are Byron W. Fleming of Columbus, insurance company employe, and Miss Patricia Kyle of Holliday's Cove, W. Va. Fleming, hospital officials said, suffered a neck injury and Miss Kyle is being treated for a back injury.

Repairs Started

About 3:30 a. m. the passenger train, minus the engine, continued on its way to Toledo under the power of a yard engine. A wreck train from Columbus arrived two hours after the accident and work was immediately started on repairing the two engines and replacing large sections of damaged track.

The pilot wheels of the passenger train were shoved under the engine's drive wheels and the entire front of the engine was damaged. The water tank on tender of the freight engine was also badly damaged. NYC officials said both engines would be towed to Columbus this afternoon.

BIG INCH PIPE LINE NEARLY FINISHED

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 16 — Big Inch is all but finished.

Test runs of crude oil are being pumped through the eastern section of the $95,000,000 transcontinental pipeline from Norris City, Ill., and next Monday at Phoenixville, Pa., government dignitaries, including Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, will witness welding of the last section of the 1,341 miles of 24-inch pipe.

Monday is 15 days short of a year from the time the first section was laid.

Officials of the petroleum administration for war and War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., said pumping started at Norris City Wednesday and oil is moving eastward 33 1-3 miles a day. Engineers are checking the run for leaks or other "bugs."

Big Inch, conceived to help meet the wartime oil crisis, now reaches from Longview, in the East Texas oil fields, to New York and Philadelphia refineries. At Phoenixville Junction the line splits, one branch going to Linden, N. J., the other to Philadelphia.

British Repulse Nazis To Drive Near Catania

Two German Divisions Thrown Back as Montgomery Drives to Within 15 Miles from Sicilian Seaport.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 16—The hard-punching British Eighth Army was reported within 15 miles of Catania in a northward surge up the Sicilian coast today after falling upon two German armored divisions and severely mauling them.

Allied headquarters announced the capture of 12 more towns, as Americans, British and Canadians advanced all along their moon-shaped front and more than 20,000 prisoners were in Allied hands when Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's veterans administered another whipping to the Hermann Goering and 15th German armored divisions.

The American Seventh army of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., seizing a number of towns on the western sector, some of them of the greatest strategic importance, had taken nearly 16,000 of the prisoners.

This time Montgomery fell upon the Germans north of Lentini, where the axis had gathered important armor for a strong counterattack, and smashed them back.

Observers believed the enemy had staked his all on counterattack.

With an "appreciable number of tanks" already in Sicily, observers were confident the German tank forces would be dealt with, and that thereafter the enemy would be obliged to fight a defensive rearguard action while conducting a withdrawal from the island.

The axis appeared powerless to keep the allied fleet in check as it gave strong seaward support to Montgomery's right flank and bombarded the enemy's coastal positions at will.

Another hot struggle also was reported inland about 25 miles from the east coast at Vizzini, one of the newly captured towns.

With the immediate prize of Catania, half way up the east coast, near at hand, the veterans of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery were said by today's communique from allied headquarters to have "made further progress against German troops who desperately contested every inch of the ground.

(The Rome radio, in a broadcast recorded in London, said "the real and true decision for the island will be reached in a new battle which has already virtually started in the Catania plain.")

Patton's Force Advances

"Severe losses were inflicted upon the enemy" by the American Seventh army of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., which advanced several miles across difficult hill country and captured further important positions," the communique added.

Although the headquarters bulletin said the "speed of the advance is very satisfactory" it called attention to the limiting factor of allied transport and supporting weapons at this stage of the operations.

The reorganized Hermann Goering tank division of the Germans had suffered heavy losses in attempting to oppose the British push toward Catania, headquarters reports said, but the German 15th armored division was known to be in reserve.

However, observers expressed the opinion that the enemy, with only limited and doubtful forces at his disposal, had staked most of his resources in this effort to hold the allies south of Catania and that his defenses were disintegrating.

They expressed confidence that with "an appreciable number of tanks" already in Sicily the allies would be able to deal satisfactorily with any counter-attack the enemy might mount.

In addition it was said allied air-borne and sea-borne reinforcements were likely to arrive, and strong naval forces continued to support the British right flank from the sea.

PRESIDENT AND CHURCHILL GIVE FAIR WARNING

People Told To Overthrow Fascist Tools of Nazi Germany Leaders.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 16—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today gave Italy her choice—to surrender honorably, or be blasted out of the war.

In a virtual ultimatum, the allied leaders said the time had come for the Italian people "to decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and civilization."

The statement added: "The skies over Italy are dominated by the vast air armadas of the United States and Great Britain," and "Italy's sea coasts are threatened by the greatest accumulation of British and allied sea power ever concentrated in the Mediterranean."

In a joint statement issued simultaneously at the White House and in London (at 7 a. m. eastern war time) the two United Nations leaders told the people of Italy that the sole hope of Italy's survival "lies in honorable capitulation to the overwhelming power of the military forces of the United Nations."

Suffer Consequences

"If you continue to tolerate the Fascist regime which serves the evil power of the Nazis, you must suffer the consequences of your own choice," the statement said.

With allied forces sweeping across Sicily toward the Italian land, the President and British prime minister in their message broadcast to Italy from Algiers and other adjacent allied points, said they could take no satisfaction in invading Italian soil and bringing the tragic devastation of war home to the Italian people.

They added that they were determined, however, to "destroy the false leaders and their doctrines which have brought Italy to her present position."

The release of the joint statement, which followed several informal invitations in recent months that Italy get out of the war, was the signal for a propaganda drive which included the dropping of thousands of leaflets on Italy by allied bombers in addition to beaming the message to the people of Italy by radio.

Conquest Hopes Blasted

Asserting that Germany's hopes for world conquest "have been blasted on all fronts," the joint statement declared the skies over Italy are dominated by vast allied air armadas and Italy's coasts are threatened "by the greatest accumulation of British and allied seapower ever concentrated in the Mediterranean."

"Every moment that you resist the combined forces of the United Nations—every drop of blood that you sacrifice—can serve only one purpose: to give the Fascist and Nazi leaders a little more time to escape from the inevitable consequences of their own crimes."

The 600-word message concluded:

"The time has now come for you, the Italian people, to consult your own self respect and your own interests and your own desire for a restoration of national dignity, security and peace. The time has come for you to decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and for civilization."

In their latest action, allied warships again shelled Catania, and a destroyer accounted for another enemy motor torpedo boat.

Wallace and Jones Rebuked; Stripped of All War Powers

President Denounces Vice President and Cabinet Aid To Put Stop to Inter-Agency Squabbles.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 16 — Sharply denouncing the row between Vice President Wallace and Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, President Roosevelt stripped both of broad powers and served notice today that anyone else in his official family who fueds in public will be fired.

For almost three weeks, Mr. Roosevelt watched — as he said with surprise — Wallace and Jones slam each other in print over methods of stockpiling strategic war materials.

Last night, in about the same vein that he pronounced "a plague on both your houses" when rival labor unions were warring a few years ago, the President cracked down. In a sweeping order, he:

1—Abolished the board of economic warfare (BEW), of which Wallace was the policy-making head.

2—Took away from Jones' Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC), four major agencies dealing with foreign purchasing.

3—Established a new office of economic warfare (OWE) with Leo T. Crowley, 53-year-old alien property custodian, as the director.

4—Told all administrative officials that any time they disagree with another agency and "feel you should submit it to the press, I ask that when you release the statement for publication, you send to me a letter of resignation." Minor officeholders who violate this are to be dismissed by their superiors, promptly, the President added.

No Decision on Merits

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized he was not deciding who was right in the battle which flared into the open June 29 and grew hotter and hotter by the day.

The president, in letters to Wallace and Jones, said there wasn't time in the midst of war to find out "where the truth lies" in such matters. The important thing, he wrote, was to "clear the decks and to get on with the war at once . . . a fresh start with new men, unencumbered by interagency dissension and bitterness."

Both principals accepted the president's rebuke without argument. Wallace commented: "In wartime, no one should question the overall wisdom of the commander-in-chief."

Said Jones:

"I concur most heartily in the President's determination to have harmony and cooperation. . . . the new director will find the affairs of all RFC agencies engaged in foreign purchases in excellent condition . . . functioning with a maximum of efficiency and at a minimum of expense."

Pledges Cooperation

Jones pledged cooperation to Crowley whom he described as the best qualified man for the job.

Crowley himself had nothing to say, except to accept the assignment.

The reorganization shifts BEW's 4,000 employes to the new setup, along with RFC's U. S. Commercial Corp., The Rubber Development Corp., the Petroleum Reserve Corp., Export-Import Bank, and lesser agencies dealing with foreign purchase financing.

Disagreements between Wallace and Jones over policy go back many months, though undercover until the vice president issued a 28-page blast on June 29 in which he accused the white-thatched Texas banker of "obstructing" BEW. The next day, both were called to the White House where James F. Byrnes, presidential righthand man, sought to make peace.

In a matter of hours, however, Wallace repeated in another statement that the RFC delayed the war effort though he tempered it by saying he never intended to question Jones' patriotism. Six-foot-two Jesse met the challenge, called Wallace's words "dastardly."

Jones waited until July 5 then threw 7,500 stinging words of rebuke at Wallace whom he accused of malice, innuendo, "half-truths and not truths at all."

AXIS MOTOR WORKS BLASTED BY RAF

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 16 — Halifax bombers of the RAF attacked the Peugeot motor vehicle works at Montbeliard in northern France last night, the air ministry announced today, and Lancasters swung across the Alps to pummel targets in northern Italy.

The Peugot motor works produce two-ton trucks and the output was second only to that of the Renault plant before the latter was flattened by air attack.

Montbeliard is located about 10 miles south of Belfort in eastern France, near the Swiss border, and the German radio said in a broadcast recorded by The Associated Press that the raiders had violated Swiss territory.

In Italy the Lancasters blasted an electric transformer and switching stations, the announcement said, but the site of the attack was not given.

Auxiliary raids by RAF intruders on airfields and railways in Germany, France and the low countries also were reported.

Seven bombers were listed as missing. One enemy plane was shot down.

At least a dozen airfields were plastered with bombs and strafed with machinegun fire and 20 locomotives were shot up last night, an air ministry announcement said.

250 Bus Drivers Tie Up Detroit Transportation

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, June 16—Suburban transportation was halted today when 250 bus drivers for the Great Lakes Greyhound Lines, Inc., stopped operating in a wage protest.

Thousands of workers in war plants were unable to get to work on time for the morning shift when service ceased to Pontiac, Birmingham, Royal Oak, and other North Woodward avenue cities and to the down-river communities of Ecorse, River Rouge, Wyandotte, Trenton and Grosse Ile.

SALES TAX GAINS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 16—Sales tax collections totaled $27,164,000 for the first six months of this year, a gain of $415,717 over the similar period in 1942, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported today.

STAR CARRIERS BOOST WAR STAMP SALES

Total for Second Week of July Drive Is $649.

Marion Star carriers, who make up the city's "little merchant" force in the nationwire July War savings stamp drive, had sales amounting to $649.20 in the second week's campaign, a check of the week's business showed yesterday. The amount nearly tripled that of last week.

Out in front for the week are the following salesmen: No. 1, Bill Trafzer of 489 McKinley street, Route 74, Davids street south; No. 2, Jack E. Robbins of 549 East Church street, Route 32, East Church street; No. 3, Warren Meister of 140 Curtis court, Route 46, South Prospect street; Ashley Hoover of 312 Summit street, Vernon Heights boulevard. The first three lead in the contest for the month so far, and the No. 4 contestant, Ashley Hoover, is a runner up, almost tying for third place.

The contest promises to be no walkaway the records show, as there are several carriers challenging this week's winners for first place.

The quota for carrier calesmen is $1 worth of war savings stamps per customer each week during July.

AKRON STRIKE IS UNSETTLED

400 Bus and Trolley Operators Resist 3-Sided Effort To Bring Peace.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., July 16—Bus and street car service remains at a standstill here today, as a strike of more than 400 CIO operators continues despite a three-sided effort to end the stoppage.

The executive committee of the CIO Transport Workers Union called a meeting of members for 2 p. m. today and International President Michael J. Quill indicated he would appeal personally to the men to return to their jobs.

The regional war labor board in Cleveland sent a telegram to union leaders calling for an end to the strike, and at the same time, Akron's Mayor George J. Harter conferred with union heads on methods of starting a back-to-work movement.

While the unexpected walkout at 4 a. m. yesterday paralyzed all mass transportation facilities in Akron, Barberton and Cuyahoga Falls, major war industries reported only slight increases in absenteeism and said production was not curtailed.

The walkout followed WLB panel recommendations of time and a half pay for all work over 42½ hours weekly, straight time pay for all over three hours waiting time between shifts, and paid vacations of one week after one year and two weeks after the second year.

Denied by the panel were requests for time and a half for sixth day work, checkoff of union dues, and payment of time and a half for six specific holidays a year, and several minor issues.

Another Akron strike was ended last night, when 120 striking CIO United Rubber Workers resumed work in the General Tire and Rubber Co. band room.

The walkout made more than 700 other employes idle because of stock shortages, and ended after Emmett B. Harper, local union president, disclaimed responsibility "for whatever action might be taken against any of our members involved" in the strike.

The company earlier notified the band room workers they would be considered as having quit their jobs and would be dropped from the payroll if they did not report today.

In an effort to end a stoppage by 350 CIO United Steelworkers in the Timken Roller Bearing Co's Canton steel mill, Col. J. H. Malone, labor chief of the Army's Fifth service command, last night asked the war manpower commission to extend the deadline for the company's switching to the 48-hour week.

EWT Adopted For Courthouse Clock by Commissioners

At a meeting yesterday the Marion county commissioners voted to set the clock on the courthouse ahead one hour to conform with Eastern War Time adopted for general use in Marion city several months ago.

The clock was set ahead this morning and now it and watches owned by Marionites correspond exactly.

The change was planned, a spokesman for the commissioners said, to end confusion resulting from having the courthouse clock one hour behind regular time for the city.

While the big clock will now indicate EWT all other clocks in the courthouse will remain on slow time.

REDS SMASH THIRD GERMAN OFFENSIVE

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, July 16—A stubborn Russian army that beat off the Nazi's third summer offensive for a full week and then counterattacked to send 10 German divisions reeling, is driving on Orel in a two-pronged assault aimed at toppling that enemy bastion, front line dispatches said today.

In a special communique last night announcing the counteroffensive launched three days ago, the Russians said their swift thrusts north and east of Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow, had resulted in a 28-mile advance that recaptured 110 towns, left more than 12,000 Germans dead and destroyed 109 Nazi tanks, 264 planes and 47 guns besides capturing piles of supplies.

The special bulletin said the column attacking from the north of Orel had penetrated 28 miles into the German line to within 18 miles of the Orel-Bryansk railway and the other column driving from the east had pushed ahead 15 miles on an 18-mile front to within 28 miles of the city.

In the Belgorod area at the southern end of the active front, where the Nazis registered minor gains at the start of their offensive on July 5, The Russians said the Germans threw more men and tanks into the fighting in a renewed effort to crack the Red army's defenses but declared the attacks had been repulsed.

The break-through at Orel was interpreted by some foreign military observers in Moscow as the end of Hitler's last all-out attempt to defeat Russia.

Farms in Urgent Need of Workers

It was erroneously stated in yesterday's Star that O. E. Barka, special county farm labor assistant, said county farmers are no longer in need of part time workers for wheat and oat harvesting. Instead, he requests as many Marionites as possible to register at the county agricultural extension office for part time harvesting work.

Community Price Rates Extended to 15 Counties

CLEVELAND, July 16 — The district office of price administration today extended community-wide dollar-and-cent ceiling prices to 15 northeastern Ohio counties.

The flat prices, covering about 1,150 brands of food items, is effective today in Ashland, Ashtabula, Carroll, Columbiana, Erie, Geauga, Huron, Lake, Lorain, Medina Portage, Richland, Trumbull, Tuscarawas and Wayne counties. Flat-pricing already is established in Cuyahoga, Summit, Mahoning and Stark counties.

ALLIES SEIZE ENEMY BASE

950 Defenders Wiped Out by Surprise Attack Similar to Jap Tactics.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 16—Outwitting the wily Japanese at his own jungle game of stealing up from behind, American and Australian fighters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur possessed the Mubo gateway to Salamaua today after wiping out 950 surprised defenders in a brilliant New Guinea maneuver.

The abrupt collapse of hill positions bestride which the Japanese for months barred the way along the jungle track leading to their Salamaua air base, 12 miles to the north, was announced in a communique which also recorded a spectacular air victory.

Over Rendova island in the central Solomons, 45 Japanese planes were shot down out of a formation of approximately 80 while on nearby New Georgia American jungle fighters edged still closer to the enemy's key air base of Munda.

Use Jap Tactics

The selfsame tactics the Japanese employed with such bewildering success against the British on their advance upon the Malay peninsula upon Singapore —infiltration to the rear—proved their undoing at Mubo.

On June 30, while the right prong of the present Pacific offensive got under way against Munda, the left prong was established by American forces who braved the treacherous reefs to land at Nassau bay on northeast New Guinea, 12 miles down the coast from Salamaua.

A highly secretive operation began at that point. Stealthily these forces, some lugging heavy guns by hand over jungle paths, moved inland along the valley of the Bitoi river toward Mubo's rear.

After Americans and Australians conquered southeastern New Guinea in mid-January by destroying a Japanese army of 15,000, Australians had moved through the jungle north more

Naples Port in Smoking Ruins After Bomb Attack

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, July 16—The great Italian mainland port of Naples lay in smoking ruins today, crushed under the same staggering allied aerial assault that virtually wiped Messina from the soil of Sicily the previous day.

Twenty-four solid hours of bombardment by the heaviest bomber formations from North Africa left Naples, fountainhead of enemy reinforcements and supplies for Sicily, a blazing inferno, its arsenal all but demolished and smoke rising more than 20,000 feet over the stricken city.

Strike Deep into Italy

The allied aerial offensive was spreading deep into Italy itself. While Naples was bearing the brunt of yesterday's smashing attack, American Liberator bombers from the Middle East tore into two important enemy airdromes in southern Italy by daylight and heavy RAF Lancasters swung down over the Alps from England to pulverize communications in northern Italy.

Medium bombers and fighter-bombers scourged the enemy in Sicily by night and day, raking road and rail communications and giving tight overhead protection to allied forces fighting in the south and east of the island. Sixteen enemy aircraft were destroyed during the day, an allied announcement said, against the loss of seven allied craft.

The allies' famous one-two punch, delivered by four waves of American Flying Fortresses in daylight and by the RAF's sturdy Wellingtons at night, was employed to give Naples a tremendous battering.

24-Hour Attack

The 24-hour bombardment was described here as comparable to the previous day's "annihilation" attack on Messina, gateway to the Italian mainland, which literally destroyed an area two miles long and one mile wide.

Aerial photographs showed that an ammunition train had exploded in the Messina port area.

"You get the impression that the whole of Sicily is slowly burning up," said a crewman of an American medium bomber. "Targets are becoming scarcer by the hour."

DRAFT OF FATHERS STILL FAR AWAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 16—Most of the nation's fathers will still be in civilian clothes by October, perhaps much longer, say draft officials who are counting on single and childless married men and the teen-age group to meet the armed forces' requirements.

This continued immunity from selective service applies, however, only to those fathers living with and supporting children born before last Sept. 15 and working at jobs [illegible] about 6,000,000 have those qualifications.

This was the draft picture given reporters by Major [illegible] Selective Service's manpower [illegible] yesterday.

The 1,366,000 single and childless married men already classified as available for immediate induction will fill the quotas for July, August and September, although some will win reclassification on appeal and about 40 per cent will be rejected and put into class 4-F.

Supplementing that were these factors:

1. At least 80,000 youths who become 18 each month can be counted upon with certainty to land in uniform. An even greater number of the total of 90,000 reaching that age monthly may prove inductible.

2. An indefinite number will be "recovered" from the pool of 2,967,000 men rejected before because of physical, mental, educational or moral disqualifications.

3. Many of the 797,000 single and childless married men now holding occupational deferment for farm work are likely to be called by local boards after the harvest season ends.

4. Occupational deferments for non-agricultural work expire constantly and most of this group of 1,273,000 are single or childless married men.

Warning To Italy Given with Fine Sense of Timing

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Roosevelt-Churchill ultimatum to the people of Italy is an astutely logical development delivered with what appears to be fine timing.

The Italian public as a whole never has had its heart in this war. The country was swept into the conflict by Mussolini's sudden treachery against France and, once caught in the mill-race, couldn't get out.

As I previously have reported in this column, back as far as the fateful Munich conference, when the power-mad but pusillanimous duce was beginning to sniff the Hitlerian heels, I found in Italy a widespread feeling of abhorrence for the Nazi leader and his works. The average Italian had no use for Hitler, and decidedly had no intention of going to war to support him.

Even then there was a great undercurrent of unrest and resentment at the repression of the dictatorship. The people lived in constant fear—so much so that they were afraid to speak their minds openly, and so suffered in silence.

People Had No Leader

Their trouble was that they had no champion to lead them in revolt against Mussolini. The king at that time had lost his hold on the respect of many of his people, and was regarded more or less as a figurehead and helpless in the hands of the duce.

Since then, however, there has been a change in Italy. The royal house seems to have made a recovery in the esteem of the public, and the old king has been asserting himself.

Coincidently, we have seen the curious spectacle of Italian staff officers coolly surrendering en bloc in Sicily, and their soldiers happily following suit. Obviously many of the Roman troops had no intention of resisting the invasion but, on the contrary, welcomed it. That's not because they are unwilling to fight for their country but because it's clear to them that they aren't battling for the fatherland but are merely providing cannon fodder for Hitler.

Back at the time of Tunisia, Italian prisoners were bitter in their denunciation of the boche. And it may be said that the Germans thoroughly despise their allies.

Threat and Promise

So it is into such an atmosphere that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have pitched their ultimatum. There's no mincing of words in warning that "the sole hope for Italy's survival lies in honorable capitulation," but it holds out the fair promise of "restoration of national dignity, security and peace" to the Italians.

Of course, the pressure from Hitler is very great, and he has many troops and secret police in Italy to maintain his power. That is calculated to have a restraining influence on a lot of folk. Still, there can be no question that a large percentage of the people are ready for revolt and only need a strong leader to set them marching.

This is the crucial moment when the king might step in and save his country from further suffering. It's doubtful if Hitler could do much to restrain a concerted movement, for he is up to his neck in troubles north of the Alps. Certainly the allied leadership has gauged the situation shrewdly in issuing the ultimatum.

Whatever else that document does, it will forever live in history as a castigation of the treacherous Mussolini. His sins are definitely on record.

WILLKIE TO SEEK G.O.P. NOMINATION NEXT YEAR

1940 Standard Bearer Challenges McCormick In Illinois.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 16—Wendell L. Willkie will be a candidate for the 1944 Republican presidential nomination — if Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, enters the Illinois preferential primary next April.

The 1940 G.O.P. nominee showed his hand yesterday, challenging McCormick to a campaign for the Illinois primary vote.

Willkie, in an interview, was asked:

"Have you seen reports that Colonel McCormick may run in the Illinois primary for the Republican presidential nomination?"

"Yes," was his written reply. "I certainly hope it is true. For then I could really make the issue clear—the greatest issue of the day—American relations to the rest of the world and liberal internal domestic policies."

Asked if he would enter other presidential primaries, Willkie said that could be decided later.

"SURE--THAT'S MY SAME OLD CAR!"

"WOULDN'T HAVE BELIEVED THOSE REPAIRS COULD MAKE IT RUN SO GOOD—AND AT SUCH A REASONABLE CASH PRICE."

Names of Marion Co. Men in Service To Appear in Star Starting Tomorrow

Loan Company Advertisement To Locate Position of Service-men on Giant Honor Roll at Courthouse.

Marion county residents with sons, fathers, husbands or other relatives and friends serving their country in the global war will have an opportunity to know [illegible] the names of [illegible] that are among the [illegible] listed on the Marion county Honor Roll erected on the courthouse lawn and if so, just what panel and column they are in, thanks to the Federal Home Savings & Loan Co. and the Honor Roll committee composed of James R. Smith, chairman, John F. Smith and Lewis Ashworth.

Starting tomorrow and continuing over a period of six or eight Saturdays, the Federal Home Savings & Loan Co. will sponsor a series of advertisements listing the names alphabetically, designating the panel, column and line in which they may be found. The list will vary each week, according to the number of names appearing under each letter.

3,345 Names

The 3,345 names appearing on the honor roll include Marion county men who have entered the armed forces prior to May, insofar as the honor roll committee has been able to learn. Approximately 300 names received since that time are now in the hands of the committee and will be posted as soon as an addition to the honor roll is made.

Plans are now under way to enlarge the roll which is now filled, and when this is done the additional names will be posted as well as those of women from the county now serving with the armed forces. It is the plan of the committee to place names of women in service in one panel.

It would be a great help to the committee if persons would check the lists as they appear in the loan company's advertisement in The Star for errors or omissions and if any are found go to the Victory House at the courthouse and obtain blanks for [illegible]. Persons also wishing to enroll names on the Honor Roll should do so at the Victory House.

It is impossible for the committee to obtain a complete list of all Marion county men and women in service as the only information available are lists at the various draft boards. Many men and women who are residents of Marion enlist in other cities, and there is no record of enlistments by men who are above the draft age, Chairman Smith pointed out.

Originator of Idea

The idea originated with Roy H. Waddell, secretary of the Home Federal Savings & Loan Co., who has a son and two sons-in-law in service. Like scores of other persons he scanned the board carefully for their names only to learn the names of his son, Roy Harold Waddell, and his son-in-law, William Payette, were missing. Realizing that others probably faced the same situation, he proposed the plan of listing the names in alphabetical order.

The work of listing the names as they will appear in alphabetical order, was done by the honor roll committee who spent hours of time and no small amount of labor to complete the service that certainly will meet with unlimited appreciation of the citizens of the county. The board was first photographed and then came the task of separating the names and arranging them alphabetically and according to panels, columns and lines.

The county Honor Roll was erected early in January as a tribute to Marion county men in service.

Allies Stress Own Part in War Effort, Poll Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 16—When peace comes there will never be any dispute as to who lost the present war, but interminable arguments are certain to arise over who did the most to win it.

That was the case after the last war, when cracker-barrel referees in many countries began wrangling over the question whether it was the British, or the French, or the Americans who finally forced the Kaiser to the wall.

Already in the present war, laymen are beginning to evaluate and appraise the importance of each country's contribution to the defeat of the Axis. The results, colored by emotion and national pride, illustrate the deep-seated human failing of being unable to appraise one's own effort objectively.

The British, according to a public opinion survey in Britain, think they have thus far done more than the United States has toward bringing eventual victory. Americans, on the other hand, rate our own war contribution ahead of the British. The average American gives substantial praise to Russia, but not as much as the average Briton gives.

No one will ever be able to settle the argument, of course, but lay appraisals of the war effort of various countries may have a definite influence on post-war relations among the powers involved.

The contrast between the British and American views is revealed when one sets side by side the results of surveys by the British Institute of Public Opinion in Britain and by the American Institute here on the question:

"Which of these countries do you think has done the most toward winning the war so far—Russia, China, Britain or the United States?"

Here is the vote of those with opinions in the two countries:

VOTE IN BRITAIN

Russia	50%
Britain	42
China	5
United States	3

VOTE IN U. S.

United States	55%
Russia	32
Britain	9
China	4

It seems apparent from the results that British voters were thinking primarily in terms of actual fighting to date, whereas Americans were thinking in terms of war production or potential production.

The American survey found that appraisals in this country differ markedly according to degree of education. Persons who have had college training single out Russia by a large vote as the country which has made the biggest contribution to the war so far, and place the United States a poor second.

	College	High School Only	Grade School Only
Russia	50%	35%	28%
U. S.	27	50	62
Britain	18	10	7
China	5	5	3

With British and Americans each lauding their own country's effort ahead of the other, it is interesting to combine the views of the two nations and strike a balance.

The combined average would be as follows:

U. S. & BRITAIN COMBINED

Russia	41%
United States	29
Britain	25
China	5

Rickey Sells Medwick to New York Giants

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 16—Joe Medwick, Brooklyn outfielder, today was sold to the New York Giants for the waiver price of $7,500.

Eddie Brannick, secretary of the Giants, said that no other players were involved and that the veteran player, who broke into the majors with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1932, would report to the Giants in Philadelphia tomorrow.

Selling of the 31-year-old Medwick to the cellar-dwelling Giants is the latest step in President Branch Rickey's house clearing among the Dodgers.

Germans Turn Guns on Italian Civilians

By The Associated Press

WITH THE WESTERN TASK FORCE (DELAYED) —Axis war prisoners unanimously have voiced surprise over the fact that American troops ever penetrated through the defenders' artillery hail.

Axis air activity decreased markedly during the last day and night.

The Germans apparently are bombing Italian civilians deliberately, and German artillery has been shelling groups of Italian prisoners whenever they surrendered to us.

In occupied towns the Americans found jails stuffed with anti-Fascists, who said they had been rounded up two weeks before the landing.

Observers believe the Sicilian battle is likely to develop into a mutual struggle to knock out opposing supply lines.

The enemy's situation regarding ammunition supply already appears to be serious.

FARM WAGE BOARD DEFERS DECISIONS

County Group Sets Another Hearing for Aug. 2.

Marion county's four-man farm wage board held a special meeting at the agricultural extension office last night with the intended purpose of making final decisions on recommendations of a farm wage scale and custom work rates agreed upon at the initial hearing of the board last Friday. However, as no representative of farm labor had attended the hearing Friday the board decided to hold a second hearing on Aug. 2 which will be designed to collect more information as to the prevailing opinions of county farmers on the wage and rate questions.

The board members also were of a unanimous opinion that there were not enough farmers present at the first hearing. About 30 attended, representing practically every section of the county, but apparently they did not provide the board with adequate and satisfactory facts and views with which to work on in last night's meeting.

Members of the board hope a much larger number of farmers will be present at the next hearing so that final and decisive action can be taken. Arthur Smith, county agricultural extension agent and coordinator of the board, reminds farmers that a major function of the board is to vote on recommendations made at the preceding hearing. He adds that the board would not want to hand down decision which would not be satisfactory to many county farmers.

In addition, in order to have an efficient working system of prevailing wage, custom, and exchange rates set up by the time most of the important harvesting tasks have been completed in the county, the board must act quickly after the Aug. 2 hearing.

than 150 miles toward Salamaua. But they found the Japanese entrenched on Observation Hill, Green Hill, the Pimple and other Mubo strongpoints. From spring until the current offensive, it was a stalemate.

Today's communique from General MacArthur disclosed that the Americans who moved inland from Nassau bay joined the Australians July 10 at Buigap creek, cutting communications and isolating the Japanese on Observation and Green Hills.

Hill Overrun

Observation Hill was overrun after 106 tons of bombs fell among its demoralized defenders in less than 45 minutes from allied planes. From front and rear, other enemy defenses at Mubo were stormed.

The sky fight over the central Solomons, where the Japanese have expended more than 260 planes since the current offensive started, found the Americans shooting down more planes than they had in the air tackling the 27 enemy bombers and their escort of between 50 and 60 Zeros. Against the 45 downed, we lost three planes, and our Solomons losses to date are under 50.

In inter-island waters above Munda, one Japanese merchant ship was sunk, a second left aflame, two barges sunk and a third set on fire by roving Mitchell medium bombers.

FORMER MARION MAN PLANS CELEBRATION

Lt. Col. E. M. Taylor in Charge of Program at Camp Sill.

A former Marion resident, Lt. Col. E. M. Taylor, has been ... chairman for the ... celebration some ... soldiers stationed ... Okla., are staging ... "This affair," says Colonel Taylor, "is planned to provide Fort Sill Ohioans with the opportunity of getting together for an evening of reunion, good fellowship and entertainment. Dancing, singing, refreshments, feature acts and door prizes will highlight the evening's program."

According to Col. Taylor, previous state nights have been successful because of the enthusiastic response from civilians of various states who have sent communications of greeting and contributed articles for use as prizes and for general distribution.

Col. Taylor was graduated from Dennison university in 1916. He enlisted in the regular army and served in France and Germany during and immediately after World War I. Following his return to the United States in 1919 he was associated with the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

In September of 1920, he was commissioned a second lieutenant and since then has served continously as an officer in the field artillery.

While stationed at Fort Myer, Va., Col. Taylor was White House aid for Presidents Harding and Coolidge. This was followed by an appointment to Hawaii from where he visited Guam, China and the Philippines.

Marion Soldier's Mother Receives Friendship Token

Because her son befriended a Scottish soldier in North Africa, a Marion county mother is possessor of a gift sent to her from Ayr, Scotland, by the mother of the British Army man.

The Marion county woman, Mrs. Henry S. Fetter of the Maple Grove road, Saturday received a package with an enclosed letter from Mrs. Margaret Robertson of Ayr stating that she sent the gift in appreciation for a service for her son, David Stewart, performed by Pfc. Harvey Fetter.

The gift, a tartan tea cosy, is a wadded covering for a teapot designed to prevent cooling of tea remaining in the pot after first cups have been poured. Tartan is the particular pattern of Scotch plaid material used to make the covering.

Although the letter gave no details, Mrs. Robertson spoke of the close friendship that had arisen between the American and Scottish soldiers and Mrs. Fetter believes that her son helped save the life of the other man by giving blood for a transfusion. In a letter received about a month ago from Pfc Fetter he told of supplying blood for an emergency case. The letter from Scotland was dated June 14.

Pfc. Fetter entered the service a year ago and left for overseas duty from Camp Rucker, Ala., in February.

Good News Comes Faster

THE geometric progression of good news hits another high spot with the formal transfer of Guadeloupe and Martinique to the United Nations. Appropriately, the break with captive France was announced on the eve of Bastille day, traditional holiday of French freedom.

The closing of the islands to further threats of hostile influence is the chief result of the transfer of authority from pro-Vichy Admiral Georges Robert to pro-Allied Henri Etienne Hoppenot. Next in importance is the accession of four French warships and 11 merchantmen and tankers to the Allied battle and cargo fleets at a time when the Axis is losing the battle of supply.

Of almost equal importance is the psychological advantage of knowing that the geometric progression of good news is being maintained; that the transformation from the despair of a year ago is no accident, but the result of sound growth and understanding cooperation. In reverse, the speed with which the Allies crumbled when they were caught unprepared in 1940 is being duplicated.

They are winning back lost ground and prestige not in the arithmetic progression of 2-4-8-16-32, but in the geometrical progression of 2-4-16-256-65,536. Everything they touch is successful, just as everything the Germans touched was successful when they held the advantage. Final solution of the long-standing problem of the two strategic French islands in hostile hands at the Caribbean approach to this country, while not of major importance in itself, is part of a succession of good news that must be as bad for German morale as it is good for ours.

Mechanized War in Sicily

THE nature of combat in Sicily is bringing into play the mechanized weapons which Americans believe are destined to be their forte in World war II.

The invasion, the aerial bombardment which preceded it, the offensive launched from the beachheads, the artillery clearing the way, and the logistics of the whole operation will bring into coordinated play for the first time the entire resources of an American force completely equipped for the mechanized warfare which Germany brought to perfection in its blitzkriegs three years ago. Our fighting men have used parachutes, gliders, armored cars, tanks, mobile artillery—everything that Germany used in its bid for supremacy. Most of them never had seen the equipment or heard of the technique of its employment until they were taken out of civilian life and trained for combat within the last two years. They learned much in Tunisia, but they are still learning as they fight in Sicily.

They are opposing troops, both Italian and German, trained intensively for years in a kind of warfare Americans have had to learn in months. As in Tunisia, mistakes must be expected, but as in Tunisia the mistakes will be turned to profitable account. With their allies, the British, who also have had to learn the hard way, they intend to establish beyond any doubt the reputation of being the world's best fighters in a contest whose terms were set by their vanquished enemies. The prestige to be gained is comparable in importance with control of the area in dispute. Victory in Sicily will shatter the myth that free men can not hope to equal the fighting forces of regimented countries.

Trials of Fatherhood

WHEN this war is over and the old gaffers start mulling over their experiences, there should be special hearings for the fathers who almost were soldiers. Theirs was a peculiar sacrifice.

They were the victims of the great national predilection for guessing. One week it was the consensus of the official guessers in Washington that all fathers under 38 would be in service. The next week it was the consensus that only part of the fathers under 38 would be taken from their families. Sometimes, the guesses varied: None of the fathers would be taken, or it might be that all fathers up to 45 were sitting at the head of the table on borrowed time.

The fathers took all these rumors, some of which were official reports, under consideration, along with the rising cost of living, taxes, War Bond purchases and the restlessness engendered by the thousand and one other wartime reports and rumors and gradually approached the point where a slamming door would bring them into the position of a soldier. If it slammed again, they'd deploy and start to surround the enemy.

In brief, no father still in civilian clothes will take too much stock in the newest report that if their responsibility was incurred before Pearl Harbor and born before Sept. 14, 1942, they are not going to be taken into the army. It might be so, but next week it might be East Lynne, instead. Long ago, civilian fathers quit believing in rumors for the duration.

News Behind the News

Indications Meat Situation Is Changing to One of Over-abundance.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 16—From a scarcity, we seem about to hop into an over-abundance of meat on our tables.

The first arrivals of large quantities of beef cattle at Chicago and St. Louis this week marks a period of supply from marketing of beef animals that will likewise develop in hogs—and for the same reason. When a steer, lamb, or hog becomes fat, there is only one place for him, the market.

With more livestock in the country today than ever before and feed at a premium, it is evident that before Sept. 1, the market must be flooded with all kinds of meat.

This super-abundance is almost as bad as too little. It means that much of the cattle and hogs which ordinarily would be kept for the coming winter supply will be used now to the disadvantage of all concerned.

Curing of the meat shortage in this way, therefore, will only quiet for a time the popularly recognized necessity of again reorganizing the administration's food program.

Since the cattle congress left town, Food Administrator Marvin Jones has put out an optimistic prophecy that he will expand all food acreage nearly one-third next year. This makes pleasant newspaper reading, especially over an empty plate, but only for persons with short memories.

This same administration expected a large increase in food production this year, insisting upon its optimistic figures before congress as late as January. Now it concedes production will be less than last year.

Any impressive hopes for expansion will await a definite program curing the causes of decreasing production—farm labor fears, prices and disorderly marketing fears, and farm machinery fears.

Behind all the forth and back publicity, the situation still obviously calls for a strong non-political, mathematical single head at the top here. One food director, empowered to direct production, marketing and price fixing, could, if able to handle figures and people, call in the farmers, packers and OPA price experts and work out a definite, complete program so that everyone involved would know precisely what is expected of him and what he is to do.

Until this is done, no confident solution seems possible. The administration undoubtedly will get around to it eventually, but probably not until forced by the pressure of events yet to come.

The FCC-Cox dispute has developed into a straight-out liberal-conservative fight as does practically everything here sooner or later. In the political argument, the merit of facts on either side, as usual, has become lost.

Consistently, the news accounts carry, for instance, an inference suggesting that Chairman Cox, of the house investigation committee, accepted a $2,500 fee from a local radio station in his district for appearing before the FCC in its behalf. This would be a violation of federal law.

If true, Mr. Cox should have been indicted and tried long ago, as the charge is nearly a year old. The congressman's explanation (which is not very clear and is seldom published alongside the charge) is that he took the amount in stock and turned it over to a charity, and that the payment was not for legal services for a government department anyway.

What is more important than either the charge or the explanation is that the justice department (completely controlled by liberals) never has made a move to indict Cox. The defending New Deal liberals seem content to reiterate it day after day, to muss up and embarrass the house investigation of FCC.

The investigation seems to have a fairly good case against that frequently hot-headed agency, but the case is likely to be smothered by the embarrassing presence of Cox at the head of the investigating committee and by the cloak of war secrecy with which Mr. Roosevelt has protected the commission files.

Afraid

The size of the Italian fleet, as detected by our spotters at the outset of the Sicilian invasion, was five battleships and nine or ten cruisers. This rather formidable fleet was unbalanced and deficient in destroyers and aircraft carriers, large numbers of which have been sunk.

Our authorities were astonished, however, when most of it lay huddled at Spezia in the Italian boot, only a few miles away from Sicily, during the initial stages of our sea borne invasion. They knew it would have to come out sooner or later, or scuttle itself, but apparently, the Italian admirals were too afraid of our superior air power to move.

Nothing could be a better harbinger of success for our campaign.

What Makes A Nazi Spy?

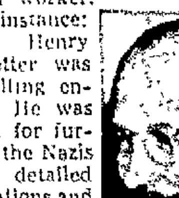

Evidently Not the Pay Scale, Records Indicate.

By JACK SPRINGER
AP Features Writer

HITLER is a cheap skate. For proof, ask the Nazi spies dredged up by the FBI. They spend tiresome hours searching for scraps of information of value to Berlin. In hiding, they plot for days to steal vital, little-known American defense secrets. They run the risk of death or imprisonment. And when their payday comes around—

They are handed wages lower than those of almost any American war worker.

For instance: Erwin Henry de Spretter was a consulting engineer. He was arrested for furnishing the Nazis with detailed specifications and blueprints of American war planes—information that might conceivably be of great value to a desperate Luftwaffe seeking to cope with U. S. air might. De Spretter's reward? A puny $100 from Der Fuehrer.

E. H. De Spretter

Waterfront Spy

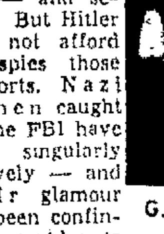

Ernest Frederick Lehmitz spent days and nights in cheap waterfront saloons, straining his ears for bits of information. Then he smuggled his reports in invisible ink through neutral countries to the Nazis. His work required patience and cunning. But his pay was a pittance — reportedly a mere $1,200 a year.

If Hitler does not pay his spies in gold, just how he does pay off is something of a mystery.

No Path Of Glory

It isn't in prestige. The six saboteurs who were captured and executed after they crawled to the beaches of Florida and Long Island were disclaimed by the Nazis—and their paths of glory led only to the graves of Potter's field.

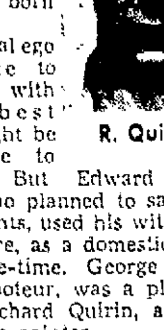

It isn't in glamour and amour, traditional twin inducements for female spies. According to popular theory, the typical female agent is a languid, lissome Mata Hari, always ready for love — and secrets. But Hitler does not afford his spies those comforts. Nazi women caught by the FBI have been singularly unlovely — and their glamour has been confined mostly to scrubbing floors, making beds in dingy rooming houses, or serving as kitchen drudges in cheap restaurants.

G. W. Kunze

Some foreign operatives may take their satisfaction in "love of Fatherland." But many convicted saboteurs spent the greater part of their lives and were educated in America. And Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, who conspired to furnish military secrets to Germany, actually was born in America.

Intellectual ego—the desire to match wits with America's best brains—might be the route to espionage. But Edward John Kerling, who planned to sabotage defense plants, used his wits, such as they were, as a domestic servant in peace-time. George Dasch, another saboteur, was a plodding waiter. Richard Quirin, a third, was a house painter.

R. Quirin

Spying against America is dirty work. It means taking advantage of trusting friends. It means long, tedious, lonesome hours: furtive hiding from the police: almost inevitable capture by the FBI. And the only tangible return a spy can get is the bitter realization:

Among his many faults, Herr Hitler is a tightwad.

The Union Within a Union

By Merle Thorpe in Nation's Business.

OUR post-war planning—and 143 agencies, public and private, are engaged in charting our destiny—starts with the premise that we must have a greatly increased business activity. The figures for this national income run all the way from $100,000,000,000 to $250,000,000,000. Our top pre-war year was $89,000,000,000. The larger figures are, therefore, impressive.

Most of the plans, if not all, leave out one important factor. Business activity does not "just happen." To produce more of no matter what, the individual must be prodded, or persuaded. Business is not self-starting. The pressure upon congress comes only from men of spirit, with the enthusiasm to do, plus the capacity to do.

Under our system of economic freedom, we have developed a most valuable asset—management. Managers plan, inspire and direct the energies of millions of us. They have imagination. So does the poet, but managers have the courage of imagination. They bring together men, materials and markets. They keep the United States a going concern. They speed obsolescence. They abhor stagnation. They accelerate turn-over. They create and conserve employment. They put overalls on dollars. They are the walking delegates of payrolls. They are the practical evangels of the more abundant life.

Management's spirit and know-how should be, must be, encouraged and developed if our business activity is to be doubled. There is no other way. The promise of after-the-war for us—and the world—lies in our sober evaluation of the quality of management, in our recognition of it as a great national asset, in an encouragement too often recently denied. The test of any regulation and restriction should be: Will it cripple the arm of those upon whom the pressure of practical progress depends?

THE manager is the symbol of economic freedom—freedom of consumer choice. The public official, who is often tempted to restrict management, is the symbol of political freedom—freedom of the ballot. They are blood brothers. Each depends on the electorate. Each is accorded position because of peculiar ability. Each should fight for the democratic process which gives him being. Political freedom and economic freedom are Siamese twins. They thrive or suffer together. Each is the fine flower of the democratic process.

The glory of American democracy is its freedom of choice. Henry Ford, like all successful managers, was elected by the public no less than was Franklin Roosevelt. The competency of the Ford management was passed upon by customer-voters hour by hour, day by day. Freedom of choice makes of the lowliest citizen a sovereign. He can substitute any form of government on earth for the American Constitution; he can throw the biggest corporation into bankruptcy overnight by voting for its competitors.

Democracy does not claim perfection, nor does capitalism. Yet the union of the two has produced here a society of free men, who, in turn, have created a material well-being, measured by 30 per cent of the world's wealth and 36 per cent of its income, and yet with only 6 per cent of its population.

Here is a simple starting point for the citizen who must pass upon any national plan for the future: Does it arbitrarily create a social and economic order to which the individual will be moulded into subordination, or does it provide for the making of men and women who are themselves competent and well-disposed to exercise freedom of choice in politics and economics? On this decision will depend whether the dignity and worth of the individual is to be preserved, whether the traditions of the American republic are to be upheld.

We Are Glad To Report There Are No Lady Slackers in That Fine Old Southern Metropolis.

By DAMON RUNYON

THIS column is addressed to Margaret Twiggs, society columnist, Augusta Chronicle.

Dear Lady: Some weeks ago in your column "Society Chatter" in the paper in which I also have the honor of appearing you gave me a bawling out for my advocacy of drafting youse dames for the WAC and other women's service organizations.

I owe you an apology for not replying to you ere this, but the fact of the matter is there were 19 other bawlings out of me for one thing and another ahead of yours and I have just got to you. I hope and trust you will forgive the delay.

I note that you seem disposed to take exception to my report on the number of lady rum-pots that I find in cocktail lounges making themselves bowlegged with redeye and that you do not approve my cracks about the many other ladies that I also see dancing and dining the hours away when they ought to be in the services wearing those brakemen's caps.

You say you do not see such goings-on in Augusta and that you do not think your city which I hold in deepest veneration as the place that gave Tyrus Raymond Cobb to the union is entirely different from other cities of the United States is, in fact, fairly representative.

DEAR LADY, your city is undoubtedly representative of many things, including beauty and culture and likewise intelligence, as I deduce from your statement of the absence there of the lady dingbats I have mentioned, but on that statement I can see that it is certainly not representative of the spirit of many females which has every jernt elsewhere in the land that is devoted to booze, bims and slab packed to the doors day and night.

You ask me who the gals I am talking about are dining and dancing with, implying that the gents must be doing the same thing since your sex generally requires escorts for that purpose. Your implication is quite true, only the gents in the case are mainly broken-down guys with the heaves or the glanders that in normal times no lady would be caught dead with. They are gentlemen who have high blood pressure, flat feet, corns, bunions, eczema and bald heads.

And dear lady, the fact that these geezers are involved in the dining and dancing with the wimmin folks does not excuse the latter, because the guys over 38 are ineligible for service while the WAC will take you girls from 22 to 50 and any female between those ages who is lively enough to josile out a rhumba is most assuredly able to do a little hayfoot-strawfoot in the army.

I AM NOT aiming my shafts at the ladies of the Augusta type that you speak of as doing their dining and dancing after performing essential work for the government or serving as volunteer nurses. I honor that kind highly.

I am shooting at the skirted daffydills who are contributing nobly to the most prodigious era of night-clubbing and money-spending in the metropolitan centers in the history of the nation. You have only to consult the big city papers to conform this statement, dear lady. In our other wars when volunteering was the method of recruiting our armies, able-bodied men who failed to enlist were called slackers.

In this war in which the men have no choice because of the draft, and it is the women who are supposed to volunteer, the fact that the WAC is unable to get all the recruits it needs though the woods are full of good material, I feel I must transfer to the ladies that old term of opprobrium, and it does not mean those women who merely transgress the injunction we find in Deuteronomy (22-5) either: "The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment; for all that do so are abomination unto the Lord, thy God."

WELL, dear lady, I will close by offering through you my sincere congratulations to your municipality on its freedom from the frivolous frails who festoon the bourbon counters and obscure the dance floors in so many other cities. I salute you personally for advising me of one spot in the United States to which I can retire when the hazard of the summed-up slackerettes tripping over my corns becomes too great. Cordially, D. R.

Tagging a Jeep

By MARION COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer.

WITH THE SECOND ARMY SOMEWHERE IN TENNESSEE—The sailor's tattooed chest now is rivalled by the soldier's jeep as a billboard. The jeep, however, encounters more restrictions on embellishments than the chest. But the basic principle is the same.

"Violet," "Ann," "Mary," "Rosetta," "Lois," "Margaret," "Amy" and the like adorn the jeep as well as the chest—only minus the hearts and flowers.

Sentimental reasons take a back seat in the Army. The names act as a means of identification of vehicles belonging to individual units, and inject inspiration into the drivers. The sentiment is a result, not a cause.

Riding on reconnaissance in an amphibious jeep named "Jinx" a demonstration of effectiveness occurred:—Her driver, Pfc. D. C. Dorgan of Greenview, Ill., became lost on one of the myriad country lanes that streak middle Tennessee. On the alert for landmarks, Dorgan spied a small truck sailing down the road ahead.

"Hold what you've got," he shouted. "We're on the way home. That truck's named 'Joker' and that means she's in my battery." All vehicles in his unit were given names starting with J, k or l.

As for the creation of interest—Army officials say a man who is assigned a vehicle and adorns it with his girl's name will keep it shined and in perfect order at all times. He stands jealous guard over her tires, brakes, spark-plugs and wind-shield wiper. He is proud of the fact when "Mary" goes out she goes out only with him.

Some amazing names crop out. For those drivers who would forsake the feminine angle for rattlesnakes and eagles and waving flags in the case of chest adornment there are such names as "Hitler's Hearse," "Hi Tension," "Harasser" and "Helicop."

But those are not the names they are called when they break down or bog in the mud.

Black Powder Plays Vital Role

By International News Service

WILMINGTON, Del., — Black powder, the oldest known type of explosive, is playing a vital role in the Allied Nations's battle against the Axis powers.

The powder manufactured from sulphur, charcoal, and saltpeter—is used to start torpedoes and depth charges on their way and to drive charges in all kinds of shells, signal flares, and anti-aircraft, according to du Pont chemists whose plants manufacture nearly 75 per cent of that type of explosive.

Before smokeless powder and TNT came into use, it was pointed out, black powder was used extensively for mining, quarrying and other blasting operations.

PLAN GIRL SCOUT ARCHERY PROGRAM

To Be Launched at McKinley Park Monday Night.

Another recreation program for Marion youth is under way in the form of a summer archery project, sponsored by the Marion Girl Scout council, to be conducted at McKinley park beginning Monday night.

It will be in charge of Miss Marguerite "Spunky" Gehring, who will be assisted by Mrs. W. J. "Speedy" Logas and Miss Clarice Marshall. Miss Gehring studied archery at Bowling Green and Ohio State universities, and she and her assistants are former members of the Marion Archery club.

Girl Scouts between the ages of 12 and 18 are qualified to attend the meetings in the park. After the classes are started and there is room, girls who are not scouts will be invited to attend.

The majority of equipment will be furnished by the Girl Scout council, but all girls who have their own are asked to bring it.

An interesting program is being planned, Miss Gehring has announced. If enough interest develops, she said, an advanced archery golf program will be worked out. It will not be determined how many nights a week the classes will be conducted until the leaders in charge see how much enthusiasm is displayed and how large the attendance is. The amount of interest will also ascertain whether the program will be conducted beyond the six weeks' trial period.

Girls interested in taking up archery will meet at 7 o'clock Monday night near the horseshoe court at McKinley park. The class will last until 9 o'clock. In case of rain, the meeting will be held Tuesday night at the same time.

Home Canning Urged by Bureau of Markets

COLUMBUS, O., July 6—Commercial packs of some fruits and vegetables will be the smallest in years and Ohio housewives should can foodstuffs as soon as they are available to augment winter food supplies, the state bureau of markets advises.

Commercial canning of red sour cherries in Ohio will be the lightest in years, while production of vegetables has been "hampered not only by unfavorable weather but also by insufficient labor for normal planting," the report stated.

Ohio plants will process the smallest amount of green peas in years, the bureau declared, listing these prospects for other fruit and vegetable crops:

Red and black raspberries—below early expectations; apples—to be available in considerable quantities; early tomatoes—excellent; northern tomatoes—poorest in years; early potatoes—prospects good; late potatoes—outlook discouraging; other root vegetables, especially carrots—an abundant supply anticipated.

MT. GILEAD SCHOOL DROPS AGRICULTURE

Inability To Obtain Teacher Is Reason.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, July 16—Unable to obtain a full-time vocational agriculture teacher, the Mt. Gilead board of education this week voted to discontinue offering classes in vocational agriculture for the duration of the war.

The local school has been without a vocational agriculture teacher since May, when Melvin Myers, instructor, resigned to accept a commission as ensign in the Navy. Myers also taught industrial arts.

Decision to drop vocational agriculture was reached by the board after it was found the only possible way to continue the department would be to employ a teacher on a part-time basis, the teacher spending half his time here and half of his time in another school.

Mt. Gilead school has had a vocational agriculture department for 20 years being the first in Morrow county to establish a class.

L. O. Walker, vocational agriculture teacher in the twin Marengo-Sparta department for four years, resigned Thursday to accept a teaching position in California. The resignation is expected to result in the realignment of teachers in vocational agriculture departments in the county with the probable creation of two new twin-departments.

Housecleaning on, Medwick Is Fired

Rickey Continues Drive To Quell Trouble in Dodger Ranks.

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The bomb that ... in Brooklyn for fair and this time the ... is about to go to Joseph Michael (Muscles) Medwick, the once celebrated outfielder whose usefulness to the Dodgers, like that of Louis Norman (Bobo) Newsom, apparently has come to an end.

When the pel club left New York last night for a three-weeks' trip away from the stormy scene of insurrection at Ebbets Field, Medwick was left at home.

Although the maneuver was shrouded in mystery by club officials, no mirrors were needed to see behind the veil of Branch Rickey's house-cleaning.

Having moved to wipe out the rebellion against Manager Leo Durocher by trading Newsom to the St. Louis Browns for two antiquated pitchers, Fritz Ostermueller and Archie McKain, Rickey has 25 players on his roster, one over the limit, and was compelled to get rid of another man.

His choice of Medwick was connected only indirectly with the rebellion. Rickey has been trying to dispose of him ever since becoming president of the Dodgers last November. He didn't like the temperament of the famous slugger, who never had batted less than .300 in 12 seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn and who had been the National league's batting champion and most valuable player in 1937.

Although he has come down a long way from his original asking price, Rickey's chances of making a deal for Medwick have faded with the player's performance this year. At present his batting average is .272 and he hasn't made a hit longer than a double.

The Bums hit the headlines again at the same time they hit the road and their antics continued to provide a smoke-screen over the activities of other clubs, most of whom resumed play yesterday after the All-Star game layoff.

The Dodgers, while idle, even gained half a game on the Cardinals, who were whipped 4-3 at Pittsburgh last night as Maurice Van Robays, just returned from a minor league whirl at Toronto, collected a double and two singles to lead a 14-hit attack on Max Lanier.

The Chicago Cubs bunched five runs in the third and three in the eighth to crush the Cincinnati Reds 8-0 behind the four-hit hurling of Hiram Bithorn.

The Phillies pounded a 9-1 victory out of the New York Giants as Richard (Kewpie) Barrett pitched steady seven-hit ball.

In the American league Orval Grove attained his eighth triumph without defeat by pitching five-hit ball as the Chicago White Sox downed the Detroit Tigers 7-4.

Washington whipped the Boston Red Sox 4-3 with Bob Johnson driving in three runs, two of them on a homer.

The St. Louis Browns stopped the Cleveland Indians 2-1 in the only game played in daylight.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, July 16 — Sunday, July 18, at about 3:15 in the afternoon, the large drill field at Camp Millard, Bucyrus will resound to the thud of leather on flesh to the accompaniment of cheers from the approximately 2200 soldiers stationed there and the general public.

Through the combined efforts of the post commander, Lt. Col. Frank E. Cheshire the public relations officer, Capt. Stanley A. Worzan and Dr. A. D. Burstead of Bucyrus, arrangements were made with Ed Bang, Cleveland sports columnist, and Ollie Downs, Cleveland welfare director, to bring by Army convoy a group of Cleveland's finest fighters to put on an exhibition program for the servicemen and the public. Included in the group will be Rudy Molenaro, Fred Chuck Wilkerson, flyweights, Tony Janiro and George Timateo, feather weights, Pete McNamara and Tony Brush, welter-weights, Leroy Jackson and Frankie Kolerak, bantam-weights, Jackie Keough and Joe Krill, light-weights and other boxers in the different classes including such well knowns as Don Rose and Gus Campo.

All of these boys have seen action in the Golden Gloves contests and have been either champions or runners up to the champions in their class.

As a gesture of appreciation for the show they put on, the troops will stage a retreat parade and pass in revue after the bouts. This colorful ceremony will be concluded with the lowering of the flag at retreat.

Col. Cheshire extends a cordial invitation to all who possibly can attend to do so and to witness the revue of the three battalions after the exhibition.

Brewers and Colonels Play 16 Inning Tie

By The Associated Press

Milwaukee held without a decision last night when its game at Louisville was called after 16 innings under the curfew code with the score locked 3-3, still held its hair-line edge today for the American association leadership with a 600 rating to Indianapolis' 597.

The no-decision contest at Louisville was featured by a rally by the Colonels in the last of the 10th as they scored twice after Milwaukee had pushed across a pair of runs in the first half. The game then was called, after 3 hours and 46 minutes.

Although Woodie Rich permitted eight hits and walked five batters, he pitched Indianapolis to a 7-0 shutout over the last-place Kansas City Blues who left 11 men stranded on the bases.

Columbus walloped Minneapolis 9 to 5, then bowed 3 to 1 in a 10-inning nightcap.

St. Paul and Toledo also split a twin bill, the Mudhens taking the inaugural, 2-0, but dropping the second 5-4.

Coca-Cola Gets Revenge Over Excavator with 4 to 2 Win

Commercial Team Comes Back After Early Season Loss; Cooler Defeats Engineer Depot 5 to 2.

Coca-Cola's Commercial leaguers finally turned and sought revenge at Lincoln park last night as they turned back General Excavator 4 to 2. Universal Cooler's softballers were given a tight scare by a supposedly weak Marion Engineer Depot team but squeezed by with a not too impressive 5 to 2 win at McKinley park.

General Excavator pinned a 11 to 4 defeat on the Cokes in the first round and appeared much the stronger team in doing it. However, Coxie Weiss, Coca-Cola hurler, last night pitched his team to a well earned grudge victory over the diggers by allowing that squad only five singles.

Excavator batters got in a hitting groove in the first inning with five consecutive hits, all of them one baggers. The batters who were responsible for this unique string of safeties were Bill Barber, Lee Barber, Cliff Leffler, Thompson and Swihart. Both of the digger runs were made in that stanza.

One More Hit

This bountiful slugging must have sapped the energy and power from Excavator bats as that team made only one hit for the remainder of the game. Weiss pitched superb ball after the first frame, not giving the Diggers a hit until their half of the seventh and last inning. This hit didn't come until two were out in the last inning when Rinnert found enough pep to lash out a single.

Walters, Coke shortstop, and Gorby, right fielder for the beverage outfit, led their team at bat, each hitting safely two out of three tries with the stick.

Lincoln park fans saw Coke shove across the two runs needed to decision Excavator in the last of the fourth. Walters ignited the two run rally with a single. He scored on another base knock by Gorby, who in turn crossed the platter on a Digger error.

Bill Everly was not at his peak form last night against M.E.D., allowing the Engineers five hits, but managed to cop his fourth league win of the year against one loss. He fanned four and gave out no walks.

New Pitcher Performs

Masura, a newcomer to local softball, worked well and reasonably effective against the powerhouse Cooler bunch. He bested Everly in the whiffing department, striking out seven Cooler players. He slumped considerably in control, however, walking four batsmen.

Only players in the Cooler lineup to crack out better than singles were Hart, Dulestrer, and Atkinson, all of whom hit Masura for the two base count. Wilson of M.E.D., also blasted a double.

Score by Innings:

G. Excavator	200 000 0—2	5	1

SUPPOSE IT HAD TO LAST A LIFETIME

HOW CAN you take steps to make sure your car will last through the duration?

The simple way is to treat your car as if it would have to last a lifetime! As if you never would be able to get another!

Keep your engine properly tuned! Change oil promptly—and no fooling! Watch plugs—brakes—batteries—carburetors! Really DO the things you know SHOULD be done, but have found you can "let slide" under peacetime practices of trading in every two or three years.

It isn't as much bother as you think. Because we'll take over the job of making your car last if you'll give us the chance and work with us.

We've got the men, got the equipment, got the know-how to do it. How about coming in to talk it over?

Industrial Teams Make City Softball Leaders Do Some Second Guessing

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

The present ... prestige of some of Marion's ... softball ... has ... a ... the ... in respect to a ... of the comparative strength of Industrial and Commercial league teams who have been playing together on a summer-long basis this year for the first time.

The ... but ..., hinder in ... form is the softball officials and particularly Industrial league ... stated before the ... opening that the two ... Commercial league teams should not be permitted to enter the Industrial circuit as they were too strong. The supposedly ... Industrial head men said that since Coca Cola and the Waldo Dodgers, the two Commercial squads had the advantage of being allowed to draw players from outside sources they would be ... too powerful for the poor, weak Industrial teams—Huber and Universal Cooler included.

This view has been found wrong since Industrial league teams, in playing no count games with two Commercial teams, have won seven and lost six. If that won and lost record is not convincing enough in 13 games against Commercial league teams, Industrial league squads have tallied 80 runs while Commercial teams have served 64 runs in the same number of games against Industrial foes.

More Statistics

There are more statistics to substantiate the statement that the softball moguls did some faulty soothsaying, but before we present them there is the background of the circumstances leading up to the decision to exclude Coca Cola and Waldo from the Industrial circuit.

Due to the drain on athletes the country over, Marion softball was in a seemingly hopeless predicament about a month before the first ball was scheduled to be tossed. Four Sunday School league teams, five Industrial squads, and the two Commercial teams had registered with the softball commission. Therefore, the Sunday School loop had two ... which would afford ... the ... of teams.

... the ... Commercial teams ... be placed in the Sunday School loop or should be put in the Industrial organization, making a ... team loop. Since the ... was composed mainly of boys of ... school age ... competitive ... would be greatly ... Coke and Waldo, with older players, would ... squads.

One Course Open

Therefore, the only course left to the commission was to put the two ... teams in the faster Industrial loop. However, Industrial managers and players, alike, were united to block any attempt to have the two Commercial teams in their loop as regular members.

Commissioners knew they had to find some way in which Coke and the Dodgers could play softball this summer. Players on the two stranded squads had a great love of the game and were determined to play against some form of organized opposition. In addition, the two outfits had paid their entry fees.

The Industrial bosses on the other hand, presented the commission with the following argument which seemed sound and justifiable at the time. The localized section of the national softball rules stipulate that Industrial league teams may have only men who actually are employed in the represented factory on the roster. These teams may not go outside of the concerns and procure players. However, Commercial league teams may have outside players since the concerns represented sometimes have such limited personnel that a ten-man lineup could not be secured if there were strict player regulations. Coca Cola, moreover, won the Commercial league title last season and before the season opened this year appeared ... the ... to have about the same pennant-winning outfit.

The softball commission ... opened ... about the ... and ... seeing and ... the grievances of ... of Coca Cola and Waldo.

Final Decision

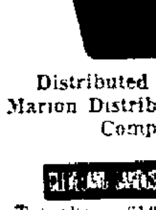

Therefore, the only way ... was to permit Waldo and Coke ... play Industrial loop teams throughout the season in ... league games which would ... effect the standings of either ... It was decided the two Commercial league teams would ... twice during the year, ... would constitute an extremely short official league season.

The season is now more than half spent and five Industrial league teams, Coca Cola, and the Dodgers have been playing under the special plan.

To be sure, all of the teams have been given an opportunity to play an average of two games per week. However many city softball fans agree that the Indu...

Services will be held in St. Mary's Catholic church at Clyde and burial will be made there. Mr. McHugh was born in Clyde and came to Bucyrus 24 years ago. He was employed at the W. A. Riddell corporation before his illness.

Yank Chute Troops Tough

By JOHN THOMPSON

WITH AMERICAN AIRBORNE TROOPS IN SICILY — (Delayed) — It's quiet today, oddly quiet, in the cool shade of our Sicilian orchard. The noise of battle has passed and overhead a Spitfire patrol which appeared for the first time yesterday, replacing what seemed to be the ever-present enemy fighters and bombers.

In this strange and unaccustomed quiet you glance through the grove at tired men improving the sand slit-trenches or cleaning their guns, and you marvel again at the ability and stamina of the American soldier, particularly these airborne soldiers. In fancy they might be a band of Robin Hood's men bivouacking in Sherwood forest, their olive green jump suits, often camouflaged with darker dapples of green, completing the picture. But these men are in even tougher breed.

Dropped in Night.

You have just seen them in their first combat. They parachuted through the night into Axis strong points. They battled their way along the coast and inland, fighting as guerrillas, and then, drawn together into a small combat team and reinforced with tanks and artillery, they fought as well as any Yanks have ever fought.

It was their first fight, but you would have thought they were old hands at it. Some mistakes naturally were made, but these shock troops distinguished themselves brilliantly.

The task force which they aided was able to provide only a few jeeps and trucks for a limited time. The industrious parachute troops have been coming up to this area in everything from captured Italian tankettes, trucks, hearses and bicycles to peasant carts, sedans, motorcycles, horses and jackasses. They had to appoint a stable officer and establish a picket line when 30 jackasses appeared.

Private Robert Games of Norfolk, Va., a clerk in the headquarters company, should be dead. Attacking a pillbox, Games crept in close, when the enemy fired 70 rounds and then pitched three hand grenades at him, knocking him unconscious. He awoke inside the pillbox, stripped naked. Half an hour later the Americans attacked again and destroyed the pillbox, killing all the Italians, but he was not scratched.

Sometimes Prisoners Not Taken.

Sometimes our men did not take many prisoners, after rescuing some of ours and finding them naked or otherwise mistreated.

Then there was Private Leonard Rosenthal, 28, of 1221 Independence boulevard (city and state missing in dispatch). Rosenthal blew the roof off a pillbox, wounding three Italians. One came out with a white flag and then started firing. Rosenthal killed him and the remaining two surrendered.

Sergt. David Rosenkarantz of Los Angeles and Corp. Lee Black of Jackson, Tenn., stumbled upon 200 Italians and were captured. But the Italians held a conference and decided they wanted to surrender to the Americans. Rosenkaranitz and Black agreed to turn them over at the first opportunity. Then everyone sat down to dinner and wine provided by the mayor. As soon as the Yanks appeared after daylight, the Italian colonel formed his command, and headed by Rosenkarantz and Black they marched, singing, to give themselves up.

Second Shift Auxiliary Police To Get Equipment

Chief-of-Police William E. Marks instructed the "second shift" auxiliary police unit on ways and means of handling traffic and mob crowds when it met yesterday afternoon in the Eagles building for its fifth official meeting.

A number of the members of the unit have attended all five instruction periods and are eligible to obtain authorization cards and arm bands. These will be presented them at the next meeting Aug. 5 when they will be sworn in as auxiliary police. Equipment consisting of helmets, sticks, belts, etc., will then be issued to them.

The group is designed to augment and assist the city police in emergencies of any nature, such as practice blackouts, air raids, floods, windstorms or any catastrophe which might call for emergency police work.

Wartime Marriages in Ohio Now Decline

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, July 16 — Ohio's wartime marriage tempo is tapering off, state health department records disclosed today.

"Thousands of marriageable boys are in the services," said Dr. R. H. Markwith, health director. "A decline was inevitable in the stepped-up rate dating from Pearl Harbor."

Dr. Markwith expects the stork, therefore, to trim production proportionately. The state birth rate hit an all time high of about 140,000 babies in 1942. The peak month for babies last year was October, 10 months after the nation entered the war.

Laboratory reports on the premarital blood tests, required by law of all who wed in Ohio since August, 1941, show a substantial drop for each month this year against the corresponding month in 1942.

State Will Permit Repainting Auto Tags

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, July 16 — Ohio motorists desiring to remove their 1942 license plates to be cleaned and repainted may do so after July 21.

Highway Director Hal Sours said after that date state highway patrolmen, police departments or sheriffs' offices would issue permits for applicants to operate vehicles with only a single tag in the rear for a seven-day period, permitting removal of tags one at a time for reconditioning.

Plates must be repainted with green letters and numerals on a white background, Sours added.

Small Carrier Makes Good Score on Subs

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 16—In a series of anti-submarine battles in the North Atlantic, the planes of a single baby aircraft carrier recently successfully attacked ten German submarines, definitely destroying two and probably destroying eight others, and delivered two convoys safely across the Atlantic to American forces poised for action against Hitler's Europe.

The story of the gallant little flat top, officially designated only as "Carrier B," was told by the Navy today in a detailed account of how these auxiliary floating air fields are helping to clinch victory for the United Nations in the vital battle of the Atlantic.

Rene La Bell, Larry Kasaboski Beat Europeans in Tag Team Mat Program

A pair of stalwart Canadians, Rene LaBell and Larry Kasaboski, won last night's tag team wrestling match at the Armory arena by defeating a team of toughies, Fred Carone of Boston and Count Carl Von Lehman.

These two teams represented two entirely different schools of wrestling technique—their performances were as different as night and day. The LaBell-Kasaboski duo represented the methodical, hard fighting school while the European team represented the "get rich quick" school in that they adopted a vicious type of fighting in which they used many intentional fouls in the hope of realizing a quick victory.

Rene LaBell, the Montreal French-Canadian, and Count Von Lehman initiated the highly-entertaining match. As usual LaBell fought cleanly and expertly until Carl the Count introduced a surplus of fouls. Then it was that LaBell opened fire with everything in the book. But this wasn't enough to decision the fiery Count. Nor could LaBell produce enough to down the German before Larry Kasaboski put fat Freddy Carone through his paces in a speedy airplane twirl climaxed by a simple body press.

After Kasaboski trounced Carone, LaBell entered the scrap and within three minutes downed the German foe whom he had been unable to decision in the first nine minutes of the opening fall.

While the Canadians monopolized the spotlight throughout the opening fall, the European toughies were in the limelight throughout the second. Carone pinned LaBell after 13 minutes and Von Lehman succeeded in applying a crab hold on Kasaboski in less than two minutes.

For spasmodically fouling both himself and LaBell, Referee Bud Kirk of Middletown disqualified Carone after only three minutes of the decisive fall. That left the troublesome Von Lehman all by himself and for 15 minutes the young stars from the nation to the north belted the Count all over the ring. His only accomplishments during the final quarter of an hour was continual fouls. Eye gouging, biting and kicking were his favorite forms of torment.

Ruthless Buddy Knox, the Nashville, Tenn., giant, trimmed Silent Pedro Gomez of Mexico City in straight falls in the one-hour semi-final event. He won the first fall with an abdominal stretch in 11 minutes and captured the deciding fall with a crab hold. Knox repeatedly fouled the mute Mexican and consequently received only jeers from the 300 or more fans for his success while Silent Pedro was applauded for his ability to withstand Knox's tortures and still fight gamely.

KENTON—Lt. Sam Long of Kenton suffered a sprained knee and torn ligaments earlier this month when the amphibian jeep in which he was riding was in collision with another vehicle. His leg is in a cast and he is in the hospital at Stout Field, Ind.

WARNING

Patton's men astride the central highway connecting the axis' eastern and western front. Vizzini is on the slopes of the Iblei mountains and about 25 miles west of Augusta

The American Seventh Army, in fanning out over a deepening expanse of its long coastal strip, had captured 15,992 prisoners.

Meanwhile the overpowering air strength of the allies was thrown afresh into a series of paralyzing blows, both at the Italian mainland and Sicily itself.

An assault in the last 24 hours on Naples, comparable to the previous day's strike at Messina, turned a two-mile long, mile wide waterfront area of the biggest Italian port city into a smoking inferno

Well in advance of the rolling allied troops British and American air-borne and parachute forces swooped from the skies to knock out centers of enemy resistance and pave the way for the oncoming tank and infantry units.

(The German radio reported 10,000 allied parachute troops had dropped behind axis lines on the Catania plain and that all had "been disposed of.")

The enemy still had not developed resistance on the scale the invaders had expected and for which they had been prepared.

A seven-mile thrust by Americans through mountain territory on the central front engulfed strategic upland positions in the Vizzini area 25 miles northeast of the beach head forged by U. S. forces at Scoglitte

Allied Forces Joined

In the Vizzini region the American Seventh Army, commanded by Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., thus is linked with the British and Canadian forces comprising Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth army.

To the west, the Americans, some of whom Associated Press correspondent John A. Moroso reported last night in a delayed dispatch went direct from the United States to the invasion shore, have captured the towns of Campobello and Riesi above the Licata bridgehead and are menacing Caltagirone, northeast of Gela.

The Eighth army, after repulsing a German tank attack that carried almost to the captured port of Augusta on the shores of the Ionian sea, has subdued Melilli, southwest of Augusta, and Brucoli, four miles to the north, and is driving along the coast toward Lentini.

At Lentini, in the foothills at the edge of Catania plain, the German-Italian defenders are reported massing to bar the allied surge toward Catania, Sicily's second largest city and half-way point on the route up the east coast to Messina, axis supply doorway to the island.

The Italians, expressing every indication of being glad to be out of the war, are surrendering in droves.

One correspondent with the Americans in the west reported the enemy position with regards to ammunition and supply already appears to be serious. This same correspondent said the Germans had deliberately shelled surrendering Italians.

Another American newspaperman, John Gunther, declared Italian aircraft is mostly out of date their tanks "are a miserable joke" and their artillery "ludicrous" Italian ration boxes, he wrote, were found with a layer of provisions on top and gravel in the bottom Many tins of meat were spoiled.

Warning Comes With Axis Hopes at Low Ebb

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 16—The stern notice served by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill on the Italian people, that the sole hope for Italy's survival "lies in honorable capitulation," came at a crisis in the war when the tide of battle had turned against the axis on almost every front.

It was delivered as Italian soldiers were reported surrendering by the thousands in Sicily, where the population was receiving the invaders with no signs of animosity. It coincided with a strong Russian offensive in the east.

As for the western European front, U. S. Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson told a press conference, American troops are "getting ready to fight."

There was little reason to doubt from news dispatches that thousands of everyday Italians who greeted the allies in Sicily in a friendly manner, marvelled at allied military skill and equipment and sulked about the German treatment of their soldiers, would welcome peace.

An unconfirmed underground report reached London today that Mussolini is to meet Hitler again soon, probably in Germany, and that he has been offered headquarters in Vienna in the event he is driven out of Italy.

STOCKS SHIFT TO RECOVERY

Prices Strengthened as Offerings Dry Up in Face of War News.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 16—Offerings dried up in today's stock market and a selective recovery shift stiffened prices for steels, rubbers, specialties and scattered utilities and rails

Strengthening bullish sentiment was the persistently good war news from Sicily, Russia and the Far Pacific, together with the Roosevelt-Churchill ultimatum to Italy to capitulate "or else" Inflation thinking was present, notwithstanding revamping of Washington economic controls, and investment demand revived to some extent.

Shares in front most of the time included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Goodrich, Chesapeake & Ohio, Pennsylvania-Central Airlines, Pan American Airways, Yellow Truck, Western Union, U. S. Lines and DuPont

On the side of steels and motors was the survey of the U. S. Steel Export Co. predicting highly optimistic prospects for the metal fabricating industry as well as the automotive makers.

SELLING UNSETTLES GRAIN PRICES TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 16—Selling of rye unsettled grains today, the market again having to contend with disappointed liquidation over the statement of Price Administrator Prentiss Brown that present ceilings on corn will be maintained. Rye was down more than a cent at times, but losses in wheat were only fractional.

Commission houses gave September wheat support at $1.44½, steadying the market. Corn reports were favorable and the quality of winter wheat now being harvested was reported as superior to that of last year, particularly with regard to moisture content. It was said one more good rain would carry the spring wheat crop in the northwest to maturity.

SOFTBALL

trial league race this year is not nearly as tight and interesting as in past years. The main reason for this is that there is only a five team circuit, while in other years there were usually eight representatives.

Perhaps if the two Commercial teams had been allowed to enter the Industrial league, a closer battle might have resulted. Then again, perhaps not. These supplementary figures, however, tend to tear the pre-season forcasts of Industrial dopesters to shreds:

Coca Cola has stood up the better of the two Commercial teams, having won five games and lost two so far this year. However, one of those losses was a decisive one, a 13 to 2 setback at the hands of the tough Huber Threshers. The other Coke loss was to General Excavator, number three Industrial team, 11 to 4.

Prediction Seemed True

The opening game of the season of June 1 made the predictions seem true for Coca Cola beat Universal Cooler, 3 to 1. However, the Cooler team, now in second place in the Industrial loop, has gradually accumulated additional strength since that opening engagement and would undoubtedly now make a game with Coke much closer.

Tha Waldo Dodgers have won only one game against Industrial teams and lost five. That one win was against Commercial Steel, fourth place Industrial team, 7 to 4.

The Dodgers took a thorough trouncing on June 15 when Universal Cooler took a 15 to 2 victory.

When Coke and Waldo met, the beverage team won going away, 20 to 0.

Pitfalls of Love

Gets the Glasses

[illegible] "There was a funny noise above our heads from one of the windows," Adams replied, "and we saw a couple of them peering out. But when they saw us they drew their heads in again and we didn't hear or see any more of them. But they must have been the birds you mean, for any irregular tenants or even transient would have reported us being on that balcony. They saw our revolvers and flashlights."

Dicky Sums Up

"Well," Dicky said, bitterly, "to give you another cliche, All's well that ends well. I've had a most delightful interview with the lady. I think, has learned a few truths which I hope will be salutary for her, and nobody has been harmed in the least. Thank you, gentlemen, for your very efficient aid. If you both will please escort the lady to the outside door, and put her into a taxicab, giving the man a dollar which I will return to you, and telling him to take her wherever she wishes to go, I think we may conclude this delightful episode. When she is safely away, please both of you, come back up here."

He turned to Ruth Hayes, and bowed from the waist.

"Good night, Wilderness Woman," he said. "I trust you sleep well."

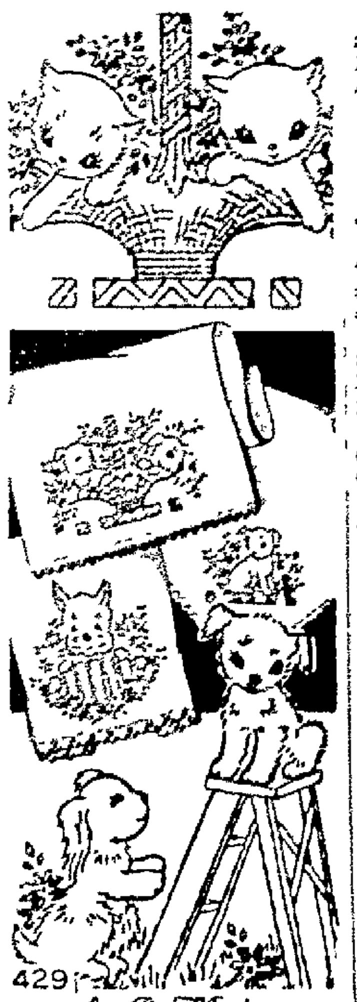

But she was not beaten to the point of silent acquiescence.

"Remember, you two," she said with a venomous side glance at me "that the last word is best and I shall have that. And tell Mrs. Blickett not to forget that [illegible] to come back to that tenement tomorrow night."

War and Tuberculosis

[illegible] at World War [illegible]

In the first place few even of [illegible] of the subject had any [illegible] the general [illegible] We had [illegible] the examination of [illegible] the strenuous and arduous physical [illegible] which soldiers have to go through rapidly broke down draftees who had been passed by the examining boards and [illegible] military hospitals of the tremendous extent of unsuspected tuberculosis in the community.

The second thing we learned was that the methods of examination ordinarily employed were inadequate to detect the early or latent case. These methods were primarily the use of the stethoscope percussion and the examination of the sputum for tubercle bacilli.

Many soldiers were passed by the examining boards simply because the involvement of the lungs lay too deep to be revealed by the stethoscope and since then we have learned the artonis [illegible] that it is easier to recover tubercle bacilli from the stomach contents than from the sputum.

In the years that have passed the great advance in diagnosis has been the use of the X-ray, and all the draftees in the present army have been examined by this method. Roughly, 99 per cent of those who have any trace of tuberculosis are detected and returned home for treatment. I have seen one or two cases in army hospitals of draftees who have broken down under the discipline of drill but this is nothing compared to the number we had in World War I. Since early detection and early treatment are the key to cure, and cure under these circumstances is possible, the situation is greatly improved from a practical standpoint.

Another aspect of tuberculosis in war is the possibility of an increase in tuberculosis all over the world. For the 50 years up to 1937 there had been a steady decline in the incidence of tuberculosis. In Great Britain tuberculosis increased 8 per cent in the first year of World War I, and 10 per cent in the second. From 1921 to 1937 the incidence of tuberculosis and the death rate in [illegible] continued [illegible] trend. But a number of factors are operating to [illegible] on the upgrade again. One [illegible] breakdown in [illegible].

Tuberculosis is a disease of lack [illegible] in the Americas and in Great Britain this cause will [illegible] operate, but heaven [illegible] what will happen to [illegible] on the continent of Europe. Another factor is the crowding and close personal contact in air raid shelters and also in periods of population movement and distress.

Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom from tuberculosis. The decline of the disease in the last century has tended in some quarters to a false sense of security. But as a Canadian writer says, "A disease that kills nearly 5,000 of the population, leaves at least 30,000 incapacitated, and costs the country directly at least $3,000,000 annually is still a formidable enemy and a major health problem."

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, July 17

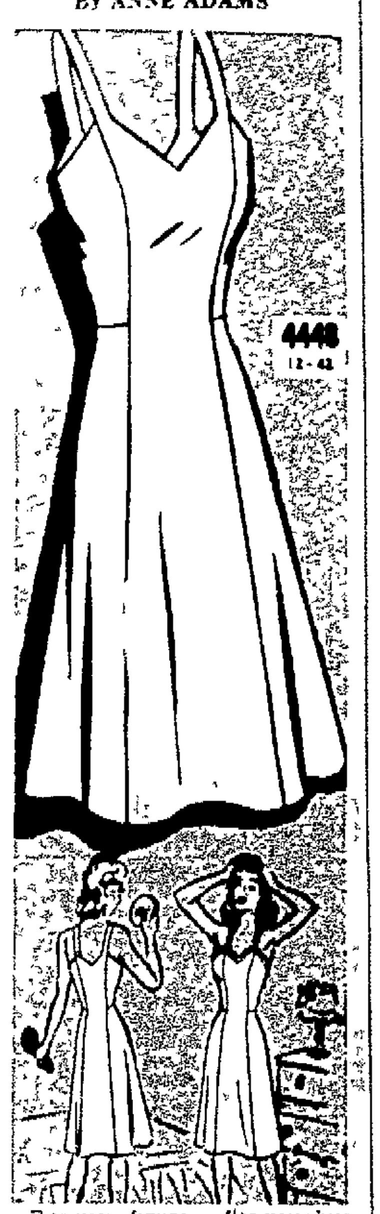

ALTHOUGH this should be a very active and exciting day, with much stirring in all directions, yet it may be difficult to turn the course of events into pleasant or profitable channels. There are signs of difficult and treacherous circumstances at the source of all endeavors. A shrewd and logical insight into such menacing affairs may be effective in turning the tide. Well-organized strategies are recommended, but be alert to all sorts of duplicities traps, sign papers cautiously and act and make decisions on principle, not expediency.

Those whose birthday it is are beset by danger of peculiar, menacing or disruptive forces, although there may be great activity and exciting tempo. There may be sudden, strange and unpredictable situations to be most successfully managed by shrewd, cautious and particularly clever strategies. But correct and straight-forward tactics are to be employed, lest there be grave penalties and unhappy reactions for questionable methods or connivance. Be careful with all writings and agents.

A child born on this day may have much talent and ability, of a deep and discerning quality, but its proclivity to attain its ends the easiest and dubious way may prove its self-undoing.
